Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Equifax as a business has always had the businesses they work with above the interest of consumers. I do not feel that they should get a slap on the wrist while all those affected by the breach are made to suffer years of rebuilding their credit simply for the fact that Equifax was lax in their security to ensure that the data was not stolen in the first place.

I object because this company makes billions of dollars a year, and thinks that buying us out for a mere $10 is enough to make it ok for our information to be stolen. This data breach has affected millions of people. Equifax needs to be held accountable for it. Thank you very much.

This is a multimillion dollar corporation who's data breach cost millions of American citizens a lot of time and energy to secure their information post breach. Many did not feel the effects of the breach until it was too late. For that time and expense, the settlement should be reasonable in amount... not a few dollars that won't even cover a tank of gasoline in our vehicle.

Renee Mobley

4910 Conifer Ridge Way, Humble, TX, USA

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair  Unduly burdensome
- Inadequate
- Unreasonable

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Honorable Thrash Jr.,

I live paycheck to paycheck and work hard for every cent I get. To have a company that I have been told would keep my information safe and then it not do so..... I feel that they abused my trust in them.

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

I object to this settlement because of the long term effect that it may have with the security breach. The information has already been stolen and there is no guarantee that the stolen information may be used in the future. I object to the credit service option because the services that watch the three bureaus that are used for credit has been hacked themselves as well as just go off of the information supplied by the credit bureaus, even if it is inaccurate. The amount for less than $10 per person is ridiculous considering any fees that people have had to pay now or in the future. There should be a better method for people than these three companies that do not do their job and do not let people know until much later that there are issues. This is just a way for them not to take as much responsibility with a slap on the wrist. There should be more restitution for the people considering.

This company should be disbanded. Due to excessive regulation they have a ridiculous economic moat. If a company in a different industry allowed to happen what they allowed to happen, that'd be the last we'd be hearing about them anymore because they'd be out of business.

The amount of compensation is inadequate compared to the possibly of Major problems with credit. This gotta beyond just problems affecting the credit report but someone could possibly use this information to access your bank accounts, etc which wouldn't show up on credit monitoring.

This breach may have long lasting consequences for those whose information was stolen. For Equifax to state that they were going to pay a certain amount, and now to go back on that amount, is unacceptable. Paying out a pittance to each person affected is not going to reinforce how important it is that our personal information is kept confidential.

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Equifax compromised the financial security of 147 million people who never consented for their data to be collected, and now Equifax wishes to settle the case for less than $1 per class member. This is absolutely ludicrous: they have failed at their most important responsibility, and such a small penalty ensures that they have no incentive to avoid failing again. Such a settlement is a gift to Equifax, unfair to all those affected, inadequate for the seriousness of the issue, and unreasonable to even consider. Even opting out of the class action settlement requires individuals to be aware of the issue, understand its seriousness, and send a formal letter, which is unduly burdensome to class members.

This is a classic bait and switch. Credit monitoring is now offered for free through many different companies online therefore it has literally no value. Equifax should not be allowed to get away with out appropriately compensating people whose information they breached.

Thank you!

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

The settlement amount should adequately compensate consumers, not simply counsel prosecuting the claims. Further, the Court should take into account: (1) the societal harm of data breaches in this day and age; and (2) the ability of class actions under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 to act as an effective deterrent for large corporations, who otherwise would not have any financial or economic motivation to alter their conduct and/or business practices (e.g., if consumers were to assert claims individually). Stated differently, it would be cheaper for large corporations to pay judgments in actions brought by individual consumers than to alter their business practices in order to comply with the law. In this context, the sizable settlements of class action litigation can effectively act as a positive force and tool for social change.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Your Honor, as part of the people who were affected in the data breech, I find the initial settlement a fair payment in exchange for the data that was lost in the breech. However, knowing how many people were affected, they used a bait-and-switch technique in order to not have to pay the consumers affected the amount of compensation promised. It is unfortunate that these consumers were told they would receive a certain amount of compensation only to find that the value has had a significant change.

In re: Equifax Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litigation

Case No. 1:17-md-2800-TWT

Jennifer Lewis

14655 Garden Gate Drive Jacksonville FL 32258

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair               Unduly burdensome
- Inadequate
- Unreasonable

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I may attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Your honor, Equifax makes millions if not billions of dollars a year, the fact that they were able to divulge our personal information and we're going to get a measly $10 in return is completely unfair and unacceptable.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

This is an egregious breach which has effected thousands of Americans. We trust these credit entities to keep our information safe. The make billions off the american citizens and they are not being held accountable. My Social Security number was one of the ones that was compromised in this breach and it is not something that will be fine in a couple years. For the rest of my life I have to monitor that social security number isn't being used fraudulently, being sold on the dark web or having it be used in a crime. Equifax needs to be held accountable for what they did, or better yet, what they didn't do. Please make sure they don't get off easily, as those of us that lost our social security number have not. Thank you

This is gross by all accounts.

They had one job! Failed. And have been sloppily trying to sweep it under the rug with their connections.

Remember when they offered to sell us a service to protect our identities as part of a resolution? I do.

Remember when the executives received massive bonuses? I do.

I can't believe how long it has been since the breach and there has been little to no justice.

Please do the right thing here. Equifax set their computer ID and password to "admin" . Equifax needs to be held to a higher standard here. They are a credit reporting agency and their records decide whether someone is approved or denied for a home loan or credit cards. Large monetary penalties usually do the trick when trying to teach companies they are doing something wrong. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Case No. 1:17-md-2800-TWT

daniel rahenkamp

13504 Lake Magdalene Drive, Tampa, FL, USA

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair  Unduly burdensome
- Inadequate
- Unreasonable

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I may attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

My identity was stolen as a result of their incompetence. This is a crime and I was a victim of their poor security on their servers.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

My Social Security number and information was divulged. After that happened their website was hacked and a fake website was setup to gather even more information. They did little to nothing to protect the very same people they are supposed to protect from exactly this sort of thing from happening to. Just because i did not personally have my information used (yet) does not mean it will not happen in the future. The small pittance of a settlement is ridiculous. What if 2 years from now i am the victim of fraud stemming from this breach. Will the measly few dollars they offer protect me? Will the 1 year of credit monitoring protect me 2 years from now? 3 years? 10?

This is completely unfair and unreasonable.

This company has a serious duty to the public. It can't be that they don't fulfill their duty and just get a slap on the wrist. The penalty must be harsh enough so that they say "we'll never let this happen again "

I do not feel that the compensation for the breach is fair. It's basically just letting them get away with a slap on the wrist. And I do not want their credit monitoring if they can't keep it secure anyway.
